	AG103T	AG 103-C -Tribo manual gun for electrostatic powder coating. During the charge due to triboelectric effect, the dust particles rub at high speed on the inner surface of the powder duct of the gun, thus transferring electric charges. This type of guns do not require electric power supply, so the absence of an electric field from the front to the gun virtually eliminates the effect of the Faraday cage. The dust particles take positive charge inside the spray gun due to the loss of electrons.	€ 3.186,00

STONEMILL

Portable grinder mill for aggregates

(follow on the QR code on the side to see the video)

StoneMILL 2.0 is the miniature of a mortar crushing plant; it is able to grind construction waste that can be reused as inert for substrate fillings and screeds.

The crushing takes place through a special grinder, the product resulting from the sector that divides the grain from the fine grain by channeling the material into two different nozzles.

Within this machine is a powerful aspirator designed to eliminate the dust generated in the hopper, grinder and outboard screen.

The dust is sucked from the large filter periodically by a simple compressed air jet.

The body is made of a special material that attenuates the noise.

The handling of the machinery is facilitated by the wheels that allow the climb of the stairs.

The entire machinery is also made of lightweight materials such as aluminum laws and steel details.
